Too bad so fine an effort as that of Brock and Schies should result in failure when they were so close to the world's sustenance. Much record. Still, paraphrasing an old saying, they may feel that it is better to have tried and lost than never to have tried at all.

Following the poisoning of three women and sixteen men in a day, the New York police are planning a "clean-up" of the city's speakeasies. From all accounts, it's not at all probable that the police will experience much difficulty in locating them.

A Washington wire says that Norman L. Ekorn and Miss Elizabeth McCormick, Wisconsin radicals on the Republican national committee, are likely to be barred for disloyalty. It's hard to understand how the two can be dropped for disloyalty to a party to the ticket of which they haven't even pretended to be loyal.

In one respect, at least, the coming world series is reminiscent of that between the Cubs and the White Sox. The former team made an easy finish while that of the White Sox was grueling, but the Sox won four to two. It wouldn't be surprising should history repeat itself.

In an apartment in which ten men suspected of bombing yellow cab garages were arrested, the Chicago police found a machine gun, half a dozen shotguns and rifles, a number of one-hand guns and a large quantity of ammunition. A few more seizures like that and riding in a Chicago taxicab is liable to be looked upon by the public up there as an extra-hazardous risk.

"Freed from the old bondage," says Aristotle Brind, "the nations that have signed the new contract will gradually forsake the habit of associating the idea of national prestige and national interest with the idea of force." And then Franco looks around for means to augment her armament.

Hogging the Scenery.
More than a hundred organizations throughout the country have been refusing to hold null for restriction of the hideous billboard nuisance, and at last it would seem their efforts are to be crowned with success.

The undershadow of more than 210 national advertisers and agencies have been secured that hereafter they will restrict their signs to commercial districts, where they properly belong.

This is a great public service. It needs no argument to demonstrate the increase of offensive signs. Under the stress of competition, advertisers and advertising agencies have proclaimed their wares in tones so strident that the whole countryside shrieks with them. There is scarcely a bit of woodland or pasture bordering any main highway or railroad in the United States that is not disfigured by billboards.

In fact, it would almost seem that the lover's spot, the more inevitable the advertisement. Many tourists have declined to buy commodities thus offensively advertised.

The advertisers who now have agreed to withdraw their signboards from the countryside have shown excellent business sense. The public will be disposed to patronize concerns that manifest some consideration for public rights.

Removal of billboards from forest and meadow will cause a sigh of relief from all who appreciate the beauty of nature. The thanks of the country are due the General Federation of Women's Clubs and other organizations that have worked to bring advertisers to realize that they were injuring their own business by hogging the scenery.

An Amazing Recovery.

While the mighty new German Dornier has been standing conspicuously at the base to which it has been put, the Germans have been putting the Dornier D. 19, a little of great airplane which is being constructed on the South side of Lake Constance at Bregenz, and anticipate having it ready for its trial flight in December. The maximum power equipment of passenger planes thus far has been three motors, but the Dornier D. 19 will have twelve English Jupiter motors of 500 horse-power. The wing spread of the machine is 150 feet and the fuselage is 120 feet in length and divided into two parts, the upper for the use of the crew of three men and for freight, and the lower will provide accommodations for twenty-four passengers, being fitted out with sleeping compartments, a kitchen and dining-room and a lounge.

The plane is constructed almost entirely of duralumin, and with a full passenger list and capacity freight load, will be able to carry enough fuel to be able to make a flight of from 1,025 to 2,500 miles, according to weather conditions. It is designed for an average speed of 115 miles an hour, but will be able to attain 150, should occasion demand.

In addition to this airplane, which is under construction for the German Transatlantic Air Navigation company for service on the German-South American line by the way of the Azores, the Junkers are constructing a super-airplane, at present designated the J-28, with cabin in its wings capable of accommodating fifty passengers. It is so large that the Junkers organization has no shops of sufficient size in which to assemble it, and it is being constructed in the open air. Its wing spread is 177.8 feet and the length of its fuselage 76.5 feet. Four motors of 500 horsepower will give it its power.

Not content with striving to regain the high place she once held on the sea in commercial shipping, it is evident that Germany proposes to hold a place second to none in the air. In this line she is prominent, as she long has been, and her present ambitious program for the construction of heavier-than-air machines, if they prove successful in operation, will give her like preeminence in the latter type of aircraft.

The more study given to the recovery of Germany since the war in all forms of transportation, the more amazing it appears. She has come back in this regard beyond all expectations of the outside world.

A Tokyo cable says that Japan has installed the American jury system. In the light of some of the recent verdicts returned over here, it looks as though Nippon is growing a bit careless.

A young Chicagoan, who is being sued for adultery, told the court that this wife wouldn't marry him until he paid her $100 for clothing and laundry; that she deserted him ten days after their marriage "to fit herself for the altar"; and that he considers $10 a day for a ten-day wedding life all a man of his means should be asked to pay. Far too much, we would say, but he should be penalized for being foolish enough to marry a woman who would make such a condition as that before marrying him.

Senator William E. Dorr and his secretary were robbed of $700 while asleep in their room, the door of which is said to have been unlocked, in a hotel in Lincoln, Nebraska. What a change must have taken place in the senator to place that degree of confidence in human nature!

While the British press has not manifested undue interest in the shooting of a British subject, twenty-two-year-old Betty Heywood, by a dry enforcement officer near Larnach, the British government is taking cognizance of the outrage. The British ambassador in Washington has asked Major Horatio P. Clibborn—a former resident of this city, by the way, who is the British vice consul in Cleveland—to make a full report on the case. Say what you may of British, she looks after her subjects wherever they may be.

Two robbers were electrocuted in Pennsylvania, Monday, for killing a man near Media who resisted their attempt to hold him up. The robbers may not be some more, but their sons will prove unavailing to bring back to life the two murderers that they may murder somebody else.

Holding that there is no such thing as dual loyalty, Chairman George Lunsbury of the British Labor party says that the members of the Communist party and other extreme radicals are not likely to be permitted to rejoin the labor party ranks, an even stronger stand against the alien agitators than that taken by the Federation of Labor over here. The whole world has been sickened by the example of soviet Russia, where misrule today is more despotic than it was under any of the czars.

The National Civic Federation proposes to probe the real situation and establish the connection between communists in this country and the soviet Russian government. Here's a movement which should have the most enthusiastic support of every believer in law and order and the principles of American government to which communism is a menace.

A fugitive from justice for the last sixteen months, Leslie Simpson, wanted for his part in the murder of an Illinois highway patrolman and the latter's wife, for which Charlie Hesser was hanged over a year ago and the majority of his gang sent to prison, was arrested as the fugitive on which he was a member of the crew reached New York last week. The young man tempted to enter upon a life of crime may rest assured that his sins will find him out.

AND THEN THE WEDDING BELLS.

Glasses Often Prove Cure.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

What about your eyes? Are you getting good service from them?

Not long after reaching the age of forty the average person will need glasses for reading. It is a strange fact, however, that the average person overlooks the fact that the lenses must be changed pretty regularly.

There is a remarkable steady change in the vision. Give me certain facts as to the vision and the strength of his glasses and I can tell very accurately the age of the person. The progress of the "presbyopia"—the aging vision—runs parallel to the line of the hairlines. Ask your oculist about this and he will confirm my story.

By the way, you better go to see the friend who fits your glasses. He consults him about the vision, but he does not see if your eyes are too dry and see if your glasses are all right.

Lots of thick people think they are "billious" when really all they need is a new pair of glasses. Bear this in mind.

While headache, heavy feeling, dizziness and indigestion in work are commonly symptoms of some trouble with the digestion, it isn't always so. Eye-strain, the need of glasses, badly fitting glasses—these may account for the uncomfortable symptoms.

There is another suggestion. Perhaps the frames of your glasses are bent, so that the lenses are not placed in front of your eyes as they should be. This puts the lenses "out of focus," changing the curve of the glasses in their relation to the eyes, so that actually an artificial form of eye-strain is produced.

It is a good idea to have the spectacle frames adjusted now and then. To do so will spare you a lot of unnecessary annoyance and real discomfort.

We get tired of wearing the same frames. It is a good thing to have several pairs of glasses if you can afford it. Have a pair of spectacles or two and a pair of nose glasses, too. You will be surprised what a relief there is in changing frames.

Can you have such ill feelings from the need of glasses or from wrongly fitted glasses that you can easily imagine yourself sick. It is just about as bad to think you are sick as to be sick, isn't it?

Nobody can be efficient in work or be happy if the eyes are suffering from eye-strain. It is silly to go about just half your real self when a test of the eyes may reveal the real reason. By getting the needed glasses you will be as good as new.

Dinner Stories.

"Are you attracted by the bright lights of the city?" answered Mr. Chuggins. "What I most enjoy is a finely illuminated filling station on a country road."

He was a very painstaking golfer and it took him three hours to reach the fifteenth hole, where he drove into the rough. After a long search the caddy located a ball which the player examined.

"No," he said, "this isn't mine. This is a very old ball."

"Yes," said the boy in an exhausted tone, "but don't forget it's a long time since we started out, sir."

"I was glad to observe that you were in no way annoyed by that man who heckled."

Former Marion Man Makes Success of Newspaper Despite Lack of Experience

ALTHOUGH experience has shown time and time again that success in business in which a person has had no training is decidedly an uphill fight, a former Marion man has made the grade lately in a venture of that sort.

The man who accomplished this feat is Leonard Insley, former employee of the Marion Steam Elevator Co., who is now editor of The Worthington News, weekly paper published at Worthington, O.

Insley's early training had been in a draft-man and he knew little of anything regarding printing and publishing when he entered into the Worthington project, about four years ago. Furthermore, an experienced printer who tried out the venture in the news had failed his paper except for publication.

Sees Opportunity

But Insley was convinced that the opportunity for success was there and he "plunged" headlong into the project. He now has a paper of approximately 1,500 circulation and profitable advertising patronage. Needless to say, it is a real newspaper, printing full details of all happenings in Worthington and vicinity.

Worthington's location, on the very edge of Columbus, appeared on the face of the proposition as a big handicap to the newspaper project. The famous papers come into the town daily, carrying all of the latest news and features.

A glance through The Worthington News discloses evidence of how Insley met this opposition. He does not attempt to compete with the Columbus papers by printing outside news. Instead, he gives his readers news almost entirely in a record of happenings in his own community, giving his readers something that the city papers can not provide.

Establishes Own Plant

When the paper was started and during its earlier weeks, Insley had it printed in a Columbus shop. Finding this to be too costly, he established his own plant and is now provided with facilities not only for publishing the paper, but for general printing as well. Recently the first directory of Worthington was published by Insley from his plant. Not only was it printed by him, but personally he listed the entire population and all of the business firms, compiling a directory which is a model in all respects.

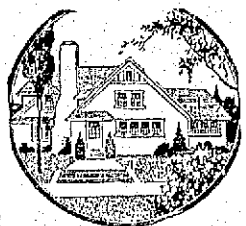

Insley has relatives living in Marion, among whom are his mother-in-law, Mrs. Madeline McIsaac, Chase st., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank D. Beck, Girard av.

One of the important questions to come before the club was the arrangement of plans for the annual Parents' Day luncheon to be held at the high school building on the night of Nov. 1.

Following the business meeting several short talks were given by members. "Farm Accounts" was discussed by Lester Thwaid. Ralph Gorden discussed stock judging. "The Ten Little" was the title of the talk by Fred Wilson. James McKinnis discussed Smith-Linger departments in high schools. Ralph Bender, president of the club, and L. B. Fidler, director of the vocational agricultural department of the high school, each spoke briefly.

Luncheon Specialists

When you put out a lunch of any kind, and especially sandwiches, your aim is to make it different and superior to the one you are getting any place else. We do not try to do what the restaurants do, nor what the so many old style lunch stands, but something tasty, real in appearance and feeling with its delicious aroma, and the appetizers that usually accompany every sandwich, and makes you feel satisfied until the next meal.But when you try one of those sandwich specialists, the double deck, sandwiches with the ham and the tomatoes, the Thousand Island Dressing that gives them that superior taste, the sweet pickles, an orange, those delicious stuffed olives, and the art of placing them on the plate that makes you feel that you are getting a regular meal, in only one sandwich, you are headed high that you did find something you never dreamed before, and you can that you will never again eat at any place else.And remember that we make all of our own sandwiches, with that in-discrepancy that we like to retain in all of our products, and that the cream that we can use makes in this part of the state.

Council Rejects Offer of President of Lighting Company

KENTON OFFICIALS REFUSE $5,000 OFFER

Instruct City Solicitor To Take Matter Up With Utilities Commission

DECIDED BY COURT
Case Involves Possible Refunds of Between $20,000 and $25,000

Kenton, Oct. 3.—Offer of E. C. Smith, New York, president of the old Harding-Wyndol Lighting Co., to pay the City of Kenton $5,000 in settlement of the old rate case which was decided by the Ohio Supreme court, after years of litigation, in favor of the city, was rejected last night by city council.

In answer to the offer councilman Smith was not in a position to comply with the request and in turn instructed City Solicitor Carver W. Schewe to take the matter up with the state public utilities commission to Columbus to establish rate schedule and determine the refund due the city, if any refund is required.

Involved Refund
The case in question, involving possible refunds that may total between $20,000 and $25,000 arose before the Ohio Power company took over the properties of the old Harding-Wyndol Co.

Council at the time passed a rate schedule which was approved by the state commission for the utility and it continued to collect its old rates under bond. The commission in turn fixed a valuation on the properties for rate-making purposes and this amount was affirmed by the supreme court when the case was carried up by the power company.

Commenting on the proposition of Mr. Smith, Councilman John Hogan said the refunds, if any are required, "are due the citizens and not the city." The refund may total between $20,000 and $25,000.

Payment was proposed by President Smith on condition "that the city consent with the company, that the state public utilities commission fix a rate of return sufficient to allow the company a profit sufficient to release it from any liability to either the city or users of electricity during the period covered by the appeal bond."

At the time the Ohio Power company took over the Harding-Wyndol properties provision was made whereby sufficient money was set aside to cover refunds should refunds be declared due. It was said.

15 WILL COMPETE FOR BEAUTY TITLE

"Miss Marion" Contestants To Be Chosen From Committee's List

Who will be "Miss Marion"? What young woman from this city is going to have the greatest time of her life, when she goes to the Ohio "Pageant of Pulpititude," accompanied by her mother?

These questions will be answered next week, when the "queen of Marion" for the year of 1929 will be selected at the Palace theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

There are many beautiful presents awaiting the winner of the local pageant, the management announces. More than a dozen merchants of the city have announced that they will each present Miss Marion with a gift from their store.

There have been more than 60 names given to H. H. Wood, personal representative of the International Pageant of Pulpititude, who is in the city, by the local citizens' committee, who are recommending the contestants. No young woman will be permitted to enter, whose name has not been submitted by the committee.

When 15 girls have been chosen by Mr. Wood, the entry list will be closed, as it is the desire of the pageant committee to make the local pageant a selective one.

Two of the prize winners of the International Pageant of Pulpititude of 1928, in the person of Miss Mison and Miss Mid-West, will appear on the stage of the Palace theater each night in conjunction with the Miss Marion pageant.

"Miss Mison" in private life is Miss Margaret Woods, of Columbus. She is the daughter of William A. Woods, who is postmaster of Columbus. Miss Woods graduated last June from Stephens college with the highest honor of any member of her class. Two days before graduation day, she left her class room and went to St. Louis, where she won the title of Miss Mison.

Vaudeville Performers Discuss Variety of Subjects off Stage, Reporter Finds as Palace Theater Guest

Presidential Campaign One of Topics During Wait for "Turns"

BY ART NORRIS
Marion Star Staff Writer

"Did you know 'em dead?" "And how! There's seven of 'em out in front of the Palace!"

Jackie Hudson looked up from the back of the seat where he was waiting for his "turn" at the Palace theater last night and grinned as Sally Hudson came into the dressing room. Sally displayed hands the color of a red rose.

"I've been dying some old stock to make a rug. I'm not at all presentable."

"What this house 'low' to that?"

"Yes, worse than usual, too. The trouble is that everyone sits in the back leaving the front row practically vacant and we've got to go too far to get at them. If the front seats were full, they'd get themselves more and we'd get three or four boxes instead of only one."

Typical Conversation

This is a bit of the "professional" conversation heard by a representative of The Star during a "back-stage" visit to a guest of the Palace theater management, last night. The purpose of the visit, arranged at the request of the reporter, was to get a cross-sectional view of the real work of the theater and to get some conception of how the entertainers talk and act while back of the scenes.

Jackie, together with Leo DeBee, does a xylophone number. Sally is a "song and dance" artist working on her own at present, though a "double" is her usual number.

Leo is having difficulty in finding a song for his act. He displayed a stack of music books and explained that he was "root" a few ones in the "back" conversation then turned to the handling home and musical best, from that to the Arlington cemetery and the Washington market.

Killing Time

That's the way vaudeville actors pass the two hours they spend waiting for their "turn" while playing the "back-stage" stands of the Palace theater.

That's how, a vaudeville actor, who sat on the bill at the Palace theater the first of this week, came in. He was followed by a group of three that, within 133 seconds, according to Carl

"King's my mascot. He's a good one, too. He got me out of a bad jam in Yacatan several years ago. We ran into some of the la Hurte's soldiers. King made friends with them, so I showed them a few of my tricks and they didn't bother us." Reena related.

"We had our plans taken with Philip Garfield, governor of Yacatan, about five days before he was shot by some of the De la Hurte faction."

Works for Charity

"King" has also collected money for charity. He carries a box on each side of his body, hanging from a harness. He's collected more than $7,000 in the last six years. The National Vaudeville Artists, the Red Cross and other charitable institutions have used him.

Carl then wanted to know what everyone on the bill thought of the political situation. Each had his opinion and was willing to express it. Carl, himself, is going to vote for Hoover.

In the projection room of the Palace theater are four machines, a spotlight, a stereopticon machine and two projectors. L. G. Oberauer is the operator and he is on his feet for 11 hours a day. He has no time to sit down and no chair to sit on if he had time.

Spotlight Equipment

The spotlight has a revolving disc in front of lens with six colored slides in it. The colors are amber, pink, magenta, red, blue and green. Six controls, three for power, one for focus, one for tilting the bulb, and one for the shutter, are necessary to operate the machine.

The stereopticon machine, which is used for advertising and song slides, has four controls for the electric arc and a shutter control to change the slides.

Each projector has three arc controls. The reels are revolved by an electric motor while being shown, but must be removed on the reels by hand. To do away with the old sign, "Two minutes' wait, until reels are changed," the two projectors are used. One reel is changed while the other is being shown.

Al Smith's Brown Derby on Hall Rack; Hoover Approves Huge G. O. P. Rally Plans

Hughes Will Share Spotlight with Republican Standard Bearer

BY WILLIAM E. HUTCHINSON
Marion Star Staff Writer

Washington, Oct. 5.—With hopes of securing a Republican victory in the Empire state by are tremendous political effort, Herbert Hoover today approved tentative plans for the monster Republican rally in New York City on Oct. 12.

Charles Evans Hughes, standard bearer in 1916, will share the spotlight with Hoover at the monster's personal invitation. Both Hoover and Hughes will address the gathering in Madison Square Garden and a national hookup of broadcasting stations will carry their speeches to every corner of the country. Under the plans, which met Hoover's approval, the rally will be one of the greatest political gatherings ever held in America.

Outrigger, Houghton to Speak

Albert Outrigger, Republican nominee for governor, and former Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, the party choice for the senate, will speak from the same platform with Hoover and Hughes, under present plans. An effort is being made to get Ellhu Root, the "grand old man" of the Republican party to preside.

The Republican nominee will remain in New York City over night in order to confer with state and county leaders the next forenoon. He will return to Washington after these conferences. So much importance is attached to this rally by the Hoover strategists that the national radio hookup will be employed for two hours during the evening, making it the greatest use of the radio by the Republicans since Hoover's acceptance speech was broadcast.

Hoover meanwhile studied plans for his invasion of New England, to speak in Boston, Oct. 13. The speaker probably will have time for the state day night preceding, going direct to Boston. Following his appearance in Boston, the nominee probably will return to Washington by way of Springfield, Mass., and Hartford, Conn., with stops in both cities.

The nominee was pleased today with two reports. First, he was told by Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, that the Keystone state was "solid" Republican. Second, he was told by western newspapers, over the telephone, that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, has been a "national success" in changing the middle west for him in the wake of Gov. Al Smith's tour.

side at the meeting, or at least part of it.

Hoover meanwhile studied plans for his invasion of New England, to speak in Boston, Oct. 13. The speaker probably will have time for the state day night preceding, going direct to Boston. Following his appearance in Boston, the nominee probably will return to Washington by way of Springfield, Mass., and Hartford, Conn., with stops in both cities.

The nominee was pleased today with two reports. First, he was told by Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, that the Keystone state was "solid" Republican. Second, he was told by western newspapers, over the telephone, that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, has been a "national success" in changing the middle west for him in the wake of Gov. Al Smith's tour.

Democratic Nominee Tired but Happy as He Returns to Albany Mansion

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The new chosen derby which Gov. Al Smith bought in Rochester to replace the one he "swapped" for a new dog in the window was perked today on the first floor hall rack of the executive mansion in Albany.

It will remain there until next Monday when, having spent by the national committee, the Democratic nominee will take to the road again, giving this time into the border states that are considered doubtful, if not actually favorable to his candidacy.

Governor Smith has finished with the west. With two or three in November, he has made his last appearance in the corn and wheat country during this campaign. The 4,000-mile trip which the governor completed here last night, represents the Smith bid for the electoral vote west of the Mississippi river. Despite the Democratic campaign is to be concentrated in the east and border states. Governor Smith's second itinerary still is in the process of formulation.

A tentative schedule has been assembled which will take him to Louisville, Ky., Chattanooga, Tenn., Louisville, Ky., Sedalia, Mo., possibly in Kansas, and ending up in Chicago in mid-October. Several other points are under consideration, particularly one in Ohio on the same trip. Three Ohio sites also are under consideration—Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland.

Smith's Schedule

Democratic hopes of carrying Missouri are based upon Governor Smith's riding up a large St. Louis vote. Lately the Democratic managers have decided that things are so favorable in St. Louis to the Smith candidacy that a personal appearance by Governor Smith is not necessary there, and that the Missouri date should rather be spotted in rural Missouri. Smith has been only tentatively scheduled.

Meanwhile, the Democratic nominee plans to get a few days of solid rest. Sixteen days on the road in the west gives the governor notwithstanding his vigorous assertion that he "never felt better" in his life.

He returned last night tired, but very happy over the result of the Rochester convention, which nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt for the governorship.

The New York state ticket this fall has been one of his recent victories ever since the Houston convention. In connection with other Democratic leaders of the state, he believes that in Roosevelt the national party ticket has been strengthened. In any event, he is willing to stand or fall on it. For Roosevelt was his own selection.

A NEW PACKARD TRIUMPH

The Packard Standard Eight Club Sedan

-the long awaited STANDARD EIGHT

EVERYTHING that was expected and more is found in Packard's newest achievement, the Packard Standard Eight.

All of the characteristic grace and distinction of Packard lines are retained, for Packard beauty is established—and it is not the Packard policy to depreciate cars in the hands of owners by radical and needless changes in design.

The new Standard Eight powerplant, with its nine-bearing crankshaft, is a marvel of clean-cut and compact simplicity, with a surprisingly low operating and maintenance cost.

And the Packard Standard Eight provides, as does the Custom line, the new and exclusive Packard Shock Absorbing System, a unique combination of inventions which are almost magical in their effects.

Today's Packard cars are literally, and without qualification, the easiest riding cars in the world—as well as the safest.

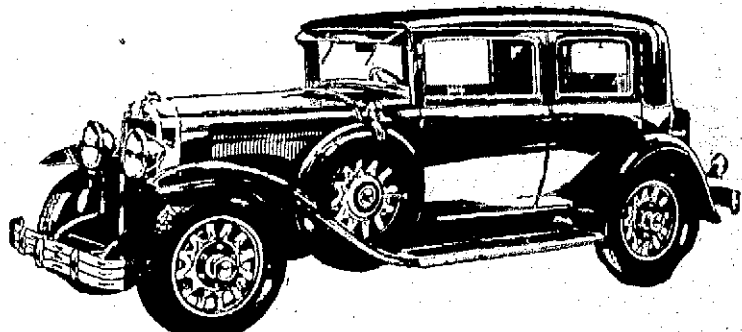

We want you to drive the new Standard Eight—experience for yourself its superb performance and unequaled comfort, the luxury of its deep new cushions and the beauty of its appointments. We know you will then be satisfied with nothing less than a Packard.

We will appraise your present car fairly—and we offer a convenient monthly payment plan. When may we serve you? A phone call will bring one of the new Standard Eight cars to your door.
